The Snakes Killed Him An Important Visitor No More Wriggling From $100,000,000 to 0

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(Copyright, 1936, by King Features Syndicate, Inc., International copyright and all rights reserved.)

At Jonesville, Va., the Rev. T. Anderson, in a demonstration of faith, intended to prove Divine power, allowed poisonous serpents to bite three times, assuring his congregation that they could not harm him.

A copperhead moccasin snake bit him twice on the right hand; a rattlesnake once on the left.

Unfortunately, the Rev. Anderson, member of the "Holiness" persuasion, died soon afterwards.

Distressing events of this kind are based partly on ignorance of the construction of the universe. When it was supposed that this world was everything, with sun, moon, stars all revolving around it, the Ruler of the universe directly overhead, it was reasonable to suppose that He might intervene to nullify the effects of rattlesnake poison.

Now that our corner of the universe is known to contain thirty thousand million suns, some of them one million times as big as our sun, while millions of other universes are scattered through space, it is unreasonable to expect the Ruler of so vast a realm to suspend laws that He has made, or personally to interfere with the effects of snake poison.

Important from the political as well as the religious point of view in the visit to this country of Cardinal Pacelli, papal secretary of state, on his way to America.

It is the first time that a Vatican official of such high rank has visited the United States. His absence from Rome is considered so important that the Pope felt compelled to cut short his brief vacation and return to the Vatican.

It is expected as a matter of course that the papal secretary will call upon the President during his short visit of two weeks. The political world wonders whether he will, directly or through a bishop, communicate with Father Coughlin, so active in politics.

Mussolini, Italian ruler, has issued an interesting order concerning etiquette in Ethiopia. Under Haile Selassie and other Arabic rulers, native Ethiopians, including chiefs, on entering the ruler's presence, were compelled to lie flat on the floor, face down, and wriggle on their stomachs to the august presence. To emphasize their servility they literally wriggled like snakes, and even followed it up on hands and knees. At regular intervals they struck their foreheads three times on the ground.

Mussolini tells them to stand up and walk in.

This will seem strange to native Ethiopians at first, and some will probably think it a sign of weakness; they will discover that they are mistaken.

We go up and down quickly in the United States, particularly in new enterprises. William Fox, once one of the most energetic, successful of moving picture men, now a bankrupt, tells the court that in 1930 he was worth one hundred million dollars, now he has only "odds and ends," meaning only a few hundred thousands here and there.

One other will answer, able moving picture man, refused sixty million dollars cash for his holdings a short time ago. What was then worth sixty millions melted to nothing.

Amid all the discussions, fighting, hatreds, denunciations, accusations and libels of the day, you might spare a moment's sympathy for Queen Mary of England. After ruling Buckingham Palace as its royal mistress, and wife of King George for twenty-five years, she gave up the great palace forever yesterday, driving with her son, the new King, and her daughter,

GEN. JOHNSON ORDER CITED BY DUMAINE

The New Deal's so-called National Recovery Act was blamed today by Frederic C. Dumaine for the complete collapse of the Amoskeag Manufacturing Company, or which he was treasurer.

It was the ultimatum of Administrator Hugh S. Johnson that two shifts must be run by the huge mills "to relieve unemployment" that caused closing of mills which one time employed as many as 22,000 persons, Dumaine declared.

Shortly thereafter the public hearing ended with a request by Special Investigator Murray W. Garrison that evidence be turned over to U. S. Attorney General Homer Cummings for possible criminal prosecution.

RECESS ORDERED

Chairman Adolph J. Sabath of the Congressional committee probing Amoskeag's affairs, however, ordered a six-weeks recess, so the while time instructing the Sabath investigators continue "to delve more deeply" with possible grand jury action in mind.

Dumaine had just concluded his third day as a witness before the Sabath committee, when he asked permission to speak. He arose.

"If you don't mind," he said, "I'd like to tell you what, in my opinion, caused the failure of the Amoskeag mills.

Lazzeri Homers With 3 on Base

BULLETIN

Polo Grounds, New York, Oct. 2.—A wild attack on the Giants by the Yankee Murderers' Row in the third inning was climaxed with a home run by Tony Lazzeri with the bases loaded. It was hit off Dick Coffman, the third Giants' pitcher in that inning.

By JOE CASHMAN

Polo Grounds, New York, N. Y., Oct. 2—President Franklin D. Roosevelt brought Uncle Sam's official greeting to the national pastime and bestowed it on the Giants and Yankees as New York's title rivals staged the second game of the 1936 World Series here this afternoon.

And Pa Knickerbocker welcomed the distinguished guest with a June in October afternoon and a pitching duel between Prince Harold Schumacher of the House of Terry and Vernon "Lefty" Gomez of the McCarthy clan.

Furnishing a stirring and highly appreciated contrast to the rain and gale of Wednesday's opener and the dampness and chill that forced yesterday's postponement, the elements had on their Sunday-go-to-meetin' clothes this p. m.

A bright sun beamed down from a cooldless sky and sent the mercury soaring so high that hundreds of bleachermen sat in shirt sleeves and reserved pew-holders found top coat uncomfortably warm even in the deepest recesses of the covered stand.

There was a breeze, but it wasn't strong enough to stir the flags and bunting decorating the orchard.

Despite these ideal baseball conditions, the crowd again fell short of the expected capacity of 52,000. In fact, the official attendance promised to be smaller than Wed-

Play by Play

FIRST INNING

YANKEES—Crosetti hit the first pitch to center for a single. Rolfe walked. Di Maggio beat out a bunt, filling the bases. Gehrig flied to Ott in right field, Crosetti scoring after the catch and Rolfe going to third on the throw to the plate. Di Maggio went to second on a wild pitch, Rolfe holding third. Dickey flied to Leiber, Rolfe scoring after the catch, but Di Maggio in trying to reach third on the play was out, Leiber to Jackson to Bartell, who covered third base.

TWO RUNS, TWO HITS, NO ERRORS, NONE LEFT.

GIANTS—Moore struck out. Bartell also struck out. Terry lined a single to center. Lieber walked. Ott flied to Di Maggio. NO RUNS, ONE HIT, NO ERRORS, TWO LEFT.

SECOND INNING

YANKEES — Selkirk walked. Powell lined to Ott. Selkirk was ruled out, stalling on a foul tip by Lazzeri. The play went Mancuso to Whitehead. The Yankees argued with Umpire Harry Geisel over the play to no avail. Lazzeri walked. Gomez struck out. NO RUNS, NO HITS, NO ERRORS, ONE LEFT.

GIANTS — Mancuso walked. Whitehead flied to Selkirk who picked the ball off the right field wall. Jackson flied high to Selkirk. Schumacher walked. On a wild pitch Mancuso scored all the way from second and Schumacher went to third. Moore fouled to Rolfe. ONE RUN, NO HITS, NO ERRORS, ONE LEFT.

THIRD INNING

YANKEES—Crosetti singled to left. Rolfe walked. Di Maggio sacrificed and was safe, filling the bases when Jackson fumbled the ball. Schumacher was taken from the box and Al "Lefty" Smith was called in to pitch for the Giants. Gehrig lined a single to right field, scoring Crosetti and Rolfe, and sending Di Maggio to third. Dickey singled to right, scoring Di Maggio and sending Gehri to third. Selkirk flied to Leiber, the runners holding their bases. Powell walked, filling the bases. Smith was taken out and Coffman came in to pitch. Lazzeri hit a home run into the lower tier of the right field stands, scoring Gehrig, Dickey and Powell ahead of him. Gomez struck out. Bartell threw out Crosetti. SEVEN RUNS, FOUR HITS, ONE ERROR, NONE LEFT.

GIANTS—Bartell walked. Terry struck out. Leiber took a third called strike. Ott flied to Rolfe. NO RUNS, NO HITS, NO ERRORS, ONE LEFT.

FOURTH INNING

YANKEES—Rolfe was out on a bunt, Coffman to Terry. Di Maggio flied to Moore. Gehrig singled to right. Gehrig was out stealing. Mancuso to Bartell. NO RUNS, ONE HIT, NO ERRORS, NONE LEFT.

GIANTS — Mancuso walked. Whitehead struck out. Jackson singled to right. Mancuso stopping at second. Davis batted for Coffman and singled to center, filling the bases. Moore was called out on strikes. Bartell hit a drive into the upper tier of the left field stands which was first called a foul, then fair, and then foul. Bartell walked, forcing in Mancuso. Terry singled to left, scoring Jackson and Davis, with Bartell stopping at second.

Leiber lined to Powell. THREE RUNS, THREE HITS, NO ERRORS, TWO LEFT.

PRESIDENT ATTENDS SECOND SERIES CLASH

By AUSTEN LAKE

Polo Grounds, New York, Oct. 2—The acres of bleacher seats were filled with happy people long before the President's party reached the Polo Grounds for this second World Series game.

The sun smiled down from a water color sky, sticky and warm, so that cautious folks, who came in overcoats and reefers, peeled down and sat in their shirt sleeves.

The turf was green and dry though scarred with the divots which the players had taken during the mucky action on Wednesday.

Only the ears in the balconies of the extreme right and left field stands were bald of customers, where the rush seats somehow don't sell.

While the two teams went through their early exercises a host of people wandered back and forth outside the dugouts, news and camera men and unattached curi-

SMITH JOINS FIGHT FOR LANDON

Complete Text of Al Smith's Speech on Page 15

New York, Oct. 2 (AP)—Alfred E. Smith joined hands today with Governor Alfred M. Landon in the presidential campaign, going all the way in his opposition to the re-election of his one-time friend and political associate, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Taking "a walk" from the Democratic party, as he prophesied he would do in his address before the American Liberty League last January, the former governor and 1928 Democratic presidential candidate declared last night at a Carnegie Hall rally:

"I firmly believe that the remedy for all the ills that we are suffering from today is the election of Alfred M. Landon."

After his address Smith said he would continue to advocate the election of the Republican nominee in all of his campaign speeches.

MORE SPEECHES

As tentatively arranged, his last appearance will be in Albany, Oct. 31—thus closing his fight against the President in the capital city where both met in 1911 while serving in the State Legislature.

Smith's declaration of support brought a prompt expression of appreciation from Governor Landon, who said in Topeka:

3000 JOBLESS MEN 'CALL' CURLEY ON PROMISE

Jobless men stormed the State House and Works Progress Administration headquarters in Oliver street today as $17,000,000 federal WPA funds became available to Massachusetts.

A crowd of approximately 3000 jammed the fourth floor of the State House to register names and addresses on Governor Curley's promise of a few days ago to find work for them on projects to be financed by federal largesse.

During this registration a throng of folk rushed WPA headquarters, stating they had been sent there from the State House after registering. Police were sent to the scene to prevent disorder as the men jammed through the gates leading to the inner offices.

SAY CURLEY "KIDDING"

While the State House scene was being enacted the Governor's political enemies were accusing him of "shabbily kidding" the unemployed by the State House registration.

port of Alfred E. Smith, a great Democrat and a great American. He has placed country above partisanship."

CHARGES PARTY BETRAYED

In completing his break with the President, Smith said:

"I have no grudge against the national administration or against anybody connected with it. My fault with them is that they have betrayed the party.

"This is not a Democratic administration. It is never referred to as such by its own people. It is called a New Deal. You don't hear of Democratic policies. You hear of Roosevelt policies."

After declaring that the Roosevelt administration gave the "strength and the power of the so-called Democratic administration" to candidates of other parties so long as they supported the New Deal, Smith declared:

'EVEN REDS WELCOMED'

"Why, even a Communist with wire whiskers and a torch in his hands is welcome so long as he signs on the dotted line."

Smith's address was made under the auspices of the Independent Coalition of American Women, a pro-Landon organization. For the most part, it was a recital of his association with the Democratic party in the state and nation, and with the President, a recital of his criticisms of the New Deal.

In dwelling on past relationships his friend's and associate said, the former governor sought to clear away the mantle of the past. Then proceeded he would discuss various issues in future address.

GOES ALL THE WAY

Smith's declaration of support for the Kansas governor came at the end of his half hour speech. He said:

"I am an American before I am a Democrat, before I am a Republican, or before I am anything.

"I have never in my long public career ducked, dodged or straddled. I have never found fault with anything only I was prepared to suggest a remedy, and while I may differ on matters of traditional party policy, I regard these things in the crisis of today as merely minor.

"I am satisfied as to the basic and fundamental needs of this country, sound and trustworthy, and I can be relied upon to cherish and preserve the great principles upon which the country was founded and without which, in my belief, it cannot endure.

"I firmly believe that the remedy for all the ills that we are suffering from today is the election of Alf M. Landon."

ROOSEVELT LAUDS DOCTORS FOR AID IN DEPRESSION

By GEORGE E. DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

Jersey City, N. J., Oct. 2—Declaring "we must do more to help the small income families in times of sickness," President Roosevelt, dedicating a new building in Jersey City's medical center, today praised the medical profession for its efforts during the depression and pledged that "the federal administration contemplates no action detrimental to their (the doctors') interests."

"Let me," the President said, "with great sincerity give the praise which is due to the doctors of the nation for all that they have done during the depression, often at great sacrifice, in maintaining the standards of care for the sick and in devoting themselves without reservation to the high ideals of their profession."

Mayor Frank Hague turned Jersey City inside out for President Roosevelt in one of the most stupendously staged demonstrations of the current campaign.

Following his speech the President motored to New York to attend the World Series game.

After the game the President will take part in ground-breaking ceremonies for the projected Queens-Midtown tunnel before leaving for Hyde Park.

During timely baseball phrases, President Roosevelt told 60,000 Pennsylvania Democrats packed into Forbes Field at Pittsburgh last night that the gross sags of his deficit ridden administration had run up "more responsible for nearly needed dollars of national income now exposing in the American citizens' pockets."

He scorned the "box score" of "our fight to beat down the depression and win recovery" and announced that "from where I stand it looks as though the game is pretty well to the bat."

Sandwiched in between Al Smith and Colonel Frank Knox on the radio and not knowing precisely what angle of attack either was going to make on his leadership, the President confined his entire speech to an argument that by running up "a net deficit of eight billion dollars" since March 4, 1933, he had increased national income from thirty-eight billions to "well over sixty billions this year."

Finally, the President asserted:

"I am confident that the receipts of the government, without imposing any additional taxes will, within a year or two, be sufficient to care for all ordinary and relief expenditures of the government—in other words, to balance the annual budget."

Landon Welcomes Al's Aid; Confers With Hoover

Topeka, Kan., Oct. 2 (INS)—Smashing party lines in his "contest for the preservation of American principles," Governor Alfred M. Landon today welcomed the support of Alfred E. Smith after meeting a personal assurance from former President Herbert Hoover, to "take the stump" in his behalf.

Thus the two men who battled for the Presidency in 1928 were united in a common cause—the election of Landon.

Hoover announced at a personal conference with Landon he would campaign for the Republican nominee. Smith proffered his support in a radio address from New York.

Strangely enough, Landon and Hoover listened together to a part of Smith's address. They also heard a part of the Pittsburgh speech of President Roosevelt but neither would offer any comment on it.

WELCOMES SMITH AID

After hearing Smith's pledge of support, Landon said:

"I deeply appreciate the support of Alfred E. Smith, a great Democrat and a great American. He has placed country above partisanship.

"The issues of this campaign are so fundamental they transcend party lines. This election will decide the form of government we shall pass on to future generations.

"I am happy to fight shoulder to shoulder with such leaders as Alfred E. Smith in this contest for the preservation of American principles."

Landon had a lengthy conference with Hoover, who stopped off here while en route from Denver to Chicago. Both told newspapermen they had talked about campaign plans.

HOOVER TO TAKE STUMP

Asked to comment upon the conference, Hoover said:

"The reaction to Governor Landon's speeches is very good. I think the Republican cause is making progress."

The former President announced he would take the stump for Landon, starting with a speech in Philadelphia on Oct. 16.

Landon was pleased with his advisers during the forenoon, working out his agenda for the coming trip to Chicago, Cleveland and Detroit. An initial draft has been finished on the Chicago address, which will deal with the question of balancing the Federal budget.

Ely Calls Al Smith's Talk 'Great'

Former Governor Joseph B. Ely today joined other Democrats throughout the country in lauding the speech of Ex-Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York, in which he joined hands with Governor Alfred M. Landon in the presidential campaign.

From his home in Westfield, former Governor Ely said the Boston Evening American:

"Al Smith's speech was great. It will have a big influence not only in Massachusetts, but everywhere.

"I'm going to take the stump for Governor Landon in a series of addresses to be made starting next week in Springfield, Ill. I will make other speeches at Laporte, Ind.; Columbus, O.; Pittsburgh and at either Wheeling or Clarksburg, W. Va."

Florence Birmingham, Democratic leader who is working on behalf of the candidacy of Governor Landon and sister of the late Representative Leo M. Birmingham, Democratic floor leader for many years, today sent the following telegram to Al Smith:

"Congratulations on your touching and magnificent address, your statesmanlike attitude in openly rejecting the New Deal, and your fearless honesty in courageously leading the ranks of the real Democrats who have in disgust withdrawn from that group which used one party label for their own advantage to the detriment of the nation."

In giving Japan credit for the place that she has made for herself in so few years, we must remember that her important war has not been the conquest of China, or of Russia, on one occasion, but her successful war against the forces of nature, tidal waves, earthquakes, volcanoes.

The latest attack on Japan's peace of mind comes with an eruption of Mount Asama, vomiting ashes like those that buried Pompeii, scattering them over villages for fifty miles around.

It is inevitable that Japan, where millions of human beings are cooped up on small volcanic islands, should seek to expand. She might well be anxious to move away completely.

Gloucester Boy, 15, Shot, Pal Sought

Gloucester, Oct. 2—Wounded in a mystery shooting, 15-year-old Everett Ryan was dying in Addison Gilbert Hospital today as police launched a determined search for his pal, who has disappeared.

Police officials said they did not attach any blame to the missing boy, but wished to locate him to learn the details of the mysterious affair.

Grave fear was expressed that the boy may have become panic-stricken and done some harm to himself.

Little hope, meanwhile, was being held for the recovery of the Ryan boy. His name has been placed on the danger list at the hospital.

Doctors said the bullet, fired from a .22-calibre rifle, entered his head above the right ear and lodged in the left side of the jaw.

The shooting occurred in the Maplewood avenue home of the Ryan boy.

Gertrude Reynolds, Rose Hayes, Quentin Gilmore, emcee, artist, John Dunlap, boy dancer, and the Houlton Hill Billies, Philip Valende, William Duffy and Charles Kondratow from Woburn.

After preliminary auditions over station WMEX, the Talent Quest semifinals and finals were staged at the Metropolitan with judges picked from the radio audience.

They'll go to New York as guests of Fred Allen, with all expenses paid. He appears on the Ipana program next Wednesday night and Boston should steal the town and "Turtle" along with the Houlton boys, of such occasions usually are forgers.

TEWKSBURY TRAGEDY

Probe Asked in Parent's Death

Evidence that a patient at Tewksbury State Hospital had been prematurely dead and sent to a morgue where still more injury to the corpse were made today by Fred W. Enright, chairman of the board of trustees.

Enright also charged that the wrong medicine had been administered to a patient causing a fatal heart trouble with the result that [illegible] were poisoned, for almost [illegible].

The accusations were contained in a telegram brought out to Wallace Anderson, commissioner of public welfare, request by a statement issued with copies of Attorney General Paul A. Dever on the death of John Gregory, 27, in his room, and the [illegible] his death in the morgue. Enright [illegible] Medarbey.

Kindhead at your earliest convenience to the board of trustees, through Dr. Lawrence K. Kelley, superintendent of the institution, the report of death of one of your wards, John Gregory of Acton, Mass.

"Mr. Gregory was 27 years old, an inmate under your department. He died August 25, 1936. Mr. Gregory died of pneumonia. He was pronounced dead at the hospital and a death tag tied to his wrist. He was sent to the morgue by the undertaker and his relatives notified.

"Report of trustees' investigating conducted at regular meeting Wednesday, September 2, 1936, has been forwarded by me to Attorney-General Paul Dever for action.

"Afterwards an orderly found that he was living and stimulants were administered. Please let the trustees know why this man died at the morgue without proper medical attention. Please also report to the trustees from Dr. Lawrence K. Kelley, superintendent, why the wrong medicine was administered to 12 heart patients, eight of whom were poisoned and one who almost died.

"The trustees have asked Dr. Kelley for this report. The patients are your ward. Please hurry along the details as soon as possible.

"It is imperative the trustees hear from you and Dr. Kelley about these matters in writing. Kindly send copies of reports to Attorney-General Paul Dever. Thank you for any co-operation you may give.

Gregory had been admitted to the institution on January 8, 1931, and was treated for epilepsy.

KING Buys U. S. FURS

13 GARMENTS--- FOR 'WALLY?

New York, Oct. 2 (US)—Has Edward VIII, King of England, just imported the cream of America's silver fox furs to present to his friend, Mrs. "Wally" Simpson, as a little $50,000 token of esteem?

If not, then for whom was this royal purchase of four capes and nine wraps, each christened "silver dream," "silver moonlight," "silver fantasy," together with other silvery names, intended as a presumption gift?

The one man in America who knows the answer excused himself from telling. He holds a customer's confidence—especially such a customer—inviolate.

But this much Julius Green, furrier to the super-elite, did say in his office:

"I have just shipped the finest pedigreed ermine silver fox furs from Wausau, Wis., to S. S. Stevens & Company of London, on the order of their Mr. Bronson, who is style authority for England and permanent chairman of the British Fashion Exposition.

Made Garments

"For whom, individually, these furs are intended I am not privileged to say. All I can tell you is that we exercised the most diligent care in choosing skins at Wisconsin, and we made them up into garments here with particular attention to the slightest detail."

Green was compelled to admit, however, that his tremendous caution followed his learning that the wraps and capes were destined for royalty.

But as King Edward wasn't buying furs for himself, the question seems: for whom were they intended?

Cream of World

Mr. Green was pressed for a clue, but discreetly shrugged his shoulders.

"Some people take it for granted these silver foxes are a gift to Mrs. Simpson. I have no knowledge of any such fact. I must refuse to discuss it.

"Perhaps she will have one of them, but I know nothing about it, and even if I did know, I wouldn't say so.

"If they are good enough for royalty, they will certainly do for Mrs. Simpson. But my responsibility ended when I forwarded these pedigreed silver garments to the Messrs. Stevens and Co. you must ask them for further information, though I doubt whether they will say any more than I have told you."

Wausau furs, Green averred, are the best there are in the silver fox line.

ZEP SPEEDS UP SO TRIO WON'T MISS NEXT HOP

'Nell Bly' Sailing Along

Dorothy Kilgallen, courageous young reporter for the International News Service and N. Y. Evening Journal, is aboard the dirigible Hindenburg on the first leg of a race around the world, which she hopes to circle in 21 days.

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

Aboard Dirigible Hindenburg at Sea, Oct. 2—Hooray! Three cheers for Imperial Airways and a tiger for merry England!

The glad word came flashing over the wireless waves today that while knighthood may no longer be in flower, there's still a bud or two on the vine, and the way has been opened for me to fly to Hong Kong and keep me in the running in this exciting race around the world.

It was the best news I could imagine, because I'm determined to be the first back in New York among the three of us trying this record-breaking jaunt around the globe, and for a while it looked as though there'd be no room for Dorothy.

But the Imperial Airways, as my office informs me, has made a place and even though this little girl doesn't get a band, she's at least sure of a seat.

Up in Rainbow

At noon, ship's time (8 a. m. in New York), the Hindenburg, 10 officers said, was in latitude 46.39 north and longitude 27 west. If I could have remembered my grammar school geography I'd have known this meant the voyage was more than two-thirds over—even before a kind-hearted navigator told me so.

There was a westerly wind of about 20 knots (each knot being a little more than a mile an hour), which helped to speed the Hindenburg along at a speed of more than 100 miles an hour.

Bright sunshine followed recent clouds and rain and a beautiful rainbow arched over the smooth sea behind us. We passed over a steamer—I couldn't see its name, but it looked for all the world like a rowboat.

If R. Ekins, one of my rivals on this exciting dash, had two complaints to make today. First of all, he was without the World Series score, which seemed to make him very unhappy, and secondly he was without a button on his coat.

In New Togs

I wouldn't do anything about the baseball game but I did sew on the button, starting on the flight near the tip of the Hindenburg's nose.

Ekins, incidentally, proudly showed off a new shirt he was wearing and called attention to the fact that Leo Kieran, third of this globe-girdling crowd, still has on the brown shirt and brown suit he wore when he boarded the ship.

As for me, I am wearing my third consecutive frock. It's made of blue wool and has six pockets and big silver buttons.

The pockets came in handy for my second shopping expedition aboard the dirigible. I bought twenty postal cards and a flock of zeppelin stamps and when the purser got through juggling marks and pfennigs, I found the lot set me back seven dollars and ten cents.

We had a luncheon celebration aboard to mark the fact Lieutenant-Commander F. H. Gilmer of New Orleans, United States naval observer and one of our passengers, had completed 156 flying hours in rigid airships.

This qualified him for rating as an airship pilot, and as he already has licenses as a balloon and airplane pilot, the occasion seemed to merit the 1934 Rudesheimer cracked over.

All aboard participated except the officers who, in the air at least, are teetotalers.

Zep Aids Race

Captain Max Pruss today gave orders to speed up the Hindenburg's four great diesel motors, so we would be sure to arrive in Frankfort in time to catch the Rome plane.

Instantly the smooth baritone of the quartet swelled into a tense hum and, although as far as I'm concerned the Hindenburg still feels motionless, the speed of the craft hiked up from a paltry 64 miles an hour to 98.

Moreover, Captain Pruss, who is either a very obliging man or can't stand being pestered, keeps the airship on a more southerly course than she has usually followed, so we had the advantage of following winds.

At this rate we ought to be in Frankfort early tomorrow.

At 10 a. m. London time (4 a. m. E.S.T., Monkey Radio reported the Hindenburg in mid-Atlantic, about 1000 miles due west of the coast of France, making 100 miles an hour.

Her course is swinging more northerly, however, and she will probably pass over southern England.

At 8 a. m. E.S.T., the Hindenburg was in latitude 46.39 north, longitude 29.11 west—two-thirds of the way across and speeding at 95 miles an hour.

It's comforting to know somebody's doing something about speed.

Frankfort-on-Main, Germany, Oct. 2 (INS)—Less than an hour later she touches German soil, Miss Dorothy Kilgallen, New York Evening Journal and International News Service reporter attempting to girdle the globe in twenty days, will be off on the second leg of her history-making journey.

All arrangements were completed today for reception of the dirigible Hindenburg, due here between 8 and 10 a. m. tomorrow with Miss Kilgallen and her two rivals, Ian Kieran and H. R. Ekins.

The actual landing will take less than forty minutes. A picked detachment of 200 Nazi storm troopers are on hand to facilitate the grounding and another 200 will be on call if needed to get the big ship down to earth so close to permit Miss Kilgallen and her rivals to make their next connection.

Let's start October with a real buying spree

* This offering applies only to present stocks. Replacements must sell at a higher price.

Starting Today!

Our entire stock of double-woven

Dunrobin Worsted Suits

going for the first time at

including two trousers

Why drop so many dollars, so early in the season? Purely for selfish reasons! We've a very natural desire to get a lot of men into Bond Clothes before the peak of Fall buying—to start even more men talking about Bond values. What better ambassadors for this important job than Dunrobin Worsteds? And at such a price! ★ These grand fabrics have long been prime favorites with men who prize that individuality of design associated with expensive clothes. The New England weaver who makes Dunrobin Worsteds prides himself on the clear sharpness of his colors and patterns—on the soft, rich feel of his fabrics—on the "meaty" texture of his double-woven worsteds. He concentrates on quality! He does not go in for mass production. So, even with our entire stock included in this Special Event, the actual number of suits is limited. Right now, you can revel in a sparkling selection of new Glen plaids, chalk stripes and conservative checks. But at $25 (including 2 trousers) it's a safe bet they'll walk out in jig time. To beat the sell-out, it's wise to be on deck today or tomorrow!

Above—From Hollywood come these broader shoulders and tapered waistline. And, below, one of the season's best sellers, the new semi-drape Double Breasted. Both are $25, with 2 trousers.

"CHARGE IT" the popular Bond way—and pay weekly or twice a month. This convenient service costs you nothing extra.

Extra!

Stonehaven Worsteds tailored by hand in our own Rochester factory

The fabrics in these suits are rated with the finest loomed in America. The style and tailoring are worthy of Rochester's best tradition for quality. Were we to buy them in the open market, we would have to sell these suits at $42.50. Direct from our own plant, they're only

STIFF BATTLE OVER MADRID RAILROAD

By THOMAS A. LOAYZA

International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Madrid, Oct. 2—The scene of Spain's most intense fighting swung today to Guadalajara Province, where Madrid announced, 200 rebels were slain and 300 deserted to the loyalist side as a powerful leftist army battled to win back the Valencia railway at Siguenza.

Recapture of this line was vital to Madrid, for on the southern front Moors and foreign legionnaires fought their way mile after mile towards Castalejo, junction point of the last railroad line connecting Madrid with its food supplies in the loyalist southeast.

READY FOR SIEGE

The communique announcing the victorious "repulse" of the large scale attack by insurgents in Guadalajara was the government's first confession of the loss of the railway at Siguenza—claimed two days ago in insurgent broadcasts.

The southern column of General Francisco Franco's anti-Madrid column is concentrating on capturing the important town of Aranjuez, where the major loyalist force is gathering to defend the railroad before beginning the siege of Madrid in earnest.

While the new Spanish dictator's Moors are moving along the Tagus river towards Castalejo and Aranjuez, however, another column continues to press toward Madrid on the Toledo road above Illescas, less than 29 miles from the capital.

MASS 125,000 TROOPS

A third army is battling Leftist militiamen along a wide front from Navalcarnero around Santa Cruz De Retamar all the way to Maqueda. On the northernmost swing, of the tightening half-circle around Madrid, according to the Rebel radio at Seville, the insurrectos broke through the Guadarrama Mountains in Arrebatacapas Pass, the ends of the Madrid-Salamanca Railway, and are beginning a new march on Madrid.

All told, according to Rebel claims, 125,000 Moors, foreign Legionnaires, regular army troops, and volunteers are now being massed for the siege of Madrid.

STARHEMBERG SEEKS POWER

Vienna, Oct. 2 (AP)—Prince Ernst Rudiger Von Starhemberg, once co-dictator of Austria, pressed for return of his political power today, fighting for complete control of the Heimwehr, his private army.

The month-long undercover struggle for Heimwehr supremacy was revealed when a group of leaders, meeting at Prince Starhemberg's invitation, attacked Major Emil Fey, former Vienna commander and pledged their allegiance to Starhemberg.

On the outcome of the fight between Fey, attempting to regain the command from which Starhemberg ousted him in 1933, and the prince depends a seat in Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg's cabinet, Heimwehr circles said.

The Chancellor, it was reported, is ready to a reconciliation with Starhemberg if he has complete Heimwehr support.

Paris Acts to Halt New Fascist Rise

Paris, Oct. 2 (AP)—Devaluation of the franc accomplished, the French government turned today to active combat against Fascism and threatened "civil war."

Criminal investigation of the French Social party was ordered by Minister of the Interior Roger Salengro after Leftist charges the new political organization was merely a veil for activities of the dissolved Nationalist Croix De Feu League.

Coolidge's Adviser Leaps to Arms

G. O. P. Off To Cape

Dems. Hold Four Rallies

By L. CONANT, JR.

The Republican state ticket, enthusiastic ever the marked spirit of optimism for Republican success displayed in contacts in various parts of the state, today steered for the Cape, G. O. P. territory recently invaded by the rival state and James Roosevelt.

Rallies tonight will be held in Harwich, Hyannis, Falmouth and Vineyard Haven, under the auspices of the Cape Cod Republican Club. Frank Stearns, familiar figure in the White House during the administration of the late President Calvin Coolidge, and traditionally referred to as the "original Coolidge man," has volunteered his services to the Republican state committee.

SEES G. O. P. MEN

Dropping in at the Republican state headquarters, Stearns conferred with Chairman Sinclair Weeks, Representative Christian A. Herter, chairman of the policy committee, and Executive Secretary Charles Nichols.

He expressed pleasure over the progress of the campaign and departed in an exchange of opinions that all indications point to a Republican victory on November 3.

A veteran Democrat, Arthur J. Cavanagh of Braintree, has announced the Republican state committee that as a Jeffersonian Democrat he will vote for the electors of the Republican national ticket.

"I am an old Democrat," Cavanagh wrote on a post card for all the world to see. "I am voting for Landon, my first ballot for a Republican President.

"He is the nearest to Democratic principles. Roosevelt has none. Roosevelt lacks business experience and I have no confidence in his word."

DEFENDS ATTACK

John W. Haigis, Republican nominee for governor, in an address defended an attack made upon his labor record by State Treasurer Charles F. Hurley, his Democratic opponent.

He charged that the state treasurer's attack was "either a stupid or deliberate attempt to mislead the people."

His legislative record on matters affecting labor, Haigis emphasized, has consistently received organized labor's approval and this record, he said, is exactly the same record on which I stand today.

Since Hurley, he emphasized, has no legislative experience on record to offer, he asserted that it is only proper that he state his own attitude, on principles of government.

"I have been trying for the past two weeks, but without success, to find out where he stands on certain aspects of the present administration of which he is a part," Haigis continued.

"The people of Massachusetts, too, are trying to find out, but also without success."

Haigis accused Hurley of resorting to a campaign of "misrepresentation and falsification."

Replying to the charge that he voted against woman suffrage, Haigis said that on the contrary "in 1909, when the fight for equal suffrage seemed hopeless, I was one of a minority group who fought for the measure and voted in favor of a resolve to provide an amendment to the Constitution which would have given women the right to vote."

KNOX INSISTS INSURANCE IN PERIL

Pittsburgh, Oct. 2 (INS)—A repudiation of his belief that under the Roosevelt administration "no life insurance policy is secure, no savings account is safe," was the reply flung at Democratic state officials today by Colonel Frank Knox, Republican Vice-Presidential nominee, to their threats to hold him accountable under the state laws for such utterances.

"This witless attempt to raise a false issue has focused national attention on the real issue . . . governmental profligacy," Colonel Knox told an audience of 9000 Republicans last night.

State officials had threatened Colonel Knox with prosecution under a law prohibiting imputation of insolvency to financial institutions.

Speaking only four blocks from where President Roosevelt was addressing a Democratic rally and at almost the same time, Colonel Knox said:

"The conditions referred to in that statement are known to every student of fiscal problems. It is important that all the people know about them. Under a government of continuous and increasing deficits, financed by loans from private banks, some form of inflation is inevitable.

"It is not a dependable issue. It is a simple fact. I do not need to explain the effects of inflation on the value of life insurance policies and savings accounts. The grim records of history attest to the misery and disaster brought by inflation."

$12,000 Cape Home Razed by Flames

North Falmouth, Oct. 2—Fire of suspicious origin destroyed a Cape Cod summer home today, damaged three others, threatened the New Silver Beach colony and brought injury to a fire captain.

Levelled with a loss of 12,000 was the summer home of Arthur Merrivvy of Quincy.

Only heroic work by two fire departments saved the fashionable New Silver Beach summer residences.

Captain John Overy of the North Falmouth fire department was badly burned about the face.

Forger! But Mother Love Shows Way

MRS. GLADYS DE ALMEIDA AND 6-MONTHS-OLD BABY

By BETTY DiPESA

The woman watched the children playing on the floor and I watched the woman. That's how I came to understand it—how a wife whose husband had publicly branded her as a forger could still live in the same house with him.

Not because she is a wife but because she is a mother.

The dark-haired boy of four and the blond, blue-eyed baby girl were laughing and Mrs. Gladys De Almeida was crying. She said:

"I returned to this home for the sake of the children. We do live under the same roof but we don't speak. I shall stay here with the children. I won't be separated from them. No one will take them away from me, not even for a million dollars!"

That's why 32-year-old Mrs. De Almeida is still living with George De Almeida in their cosy little home in Rock street, Norwood.

In superior court, with the baby girl in her arms, she pleaded guilty to forging her husband's name to $3000 in orders on her husband's separate account in a Norwood bank.

They have been living together since the discovery of the shortage and her confession, living together, without speaking, for the sake of the children.

And when her case was continued until December for disposition and she was given her freedom on bail, she went back to the house.

"But not to live in peace and harmony," she told me.

I wondered how a wife, under such circumstances, could live with her husband, prepare his meals, mark his comings and goings, ignore the little intimacies that must crop up under the same roof. Then, watching her as she watched the children, I knew it was just a mother clinging to her children and paying for a mistake, She said:

"I made a mistake, but an unintentional mistake.

"I didn't realize the seriousness of it.

"I'm guilty, I admit. I'm paying for it now.

"It was a case of mismanagement. My husband and I entertained a lot at the beginning of our marriage. That was five years ago.

"I was supposed to manage the affairs. But things didn't go well, so I drew on his bank account, signing his name.

"I spent none of the money on myself. It went back into the house.

"But I was wrong. I know that now. I pleaded with my husband for forgiveness but he wouldn't listen.

"I intend to make restitution of every cent I took

JOBLESS CROWD STATE HOUSE

ception at WPA headquarters was not apparent. State Administrator Paul Edwards, who said he was too busy to be interviewed, sent out word that his statement of a few days ago "still stands."

This was to the effect that he would, as usual, provide jobs for men on relief without consideration of the State House registrations.

During the first hour after the State House opened, 1500 men had given their names and addresses ti six stenographers in Room 400 and been told to go to Oliver street.

A few women appeared in the crowd.

Walter Ryan, director of the governor's employment bureau, said all the names taken at the late House would be forwarded to the office of the state public works department at 100 Nashua street, there to be filed.

State House police and state police held the crowd in check but somebody ripped an electric signalling device from a wall.

Meanwhile there existed a wide difference of opinion and a heated political controversy over the governor's intention and ability to do what he promised.

Republican leaders, who characterized his invitation as a brazen attempt to buy the election had called upon Administrator Edwards to block the move.

Following up an earlier attack Sinclair Weeks, chairman of the Republican state committee, said:

"The scene was just what was to be expected. It is a pretty shabby way for the governor to raise the hopes of worthy, jobless men only to toss them around when they called on him to make good his promise. They are being kidded now as they were kidded two years ago with the Curley work-and-wages promise which never materialized."

LANDON GAINING IN DIGEST POLL

Special to American Newspapers, Inc.

New York, Oct. 2—Out of thirty-one states reported in the latest returns of the Literary Digest poll, Governor Landon leads in twenty-six, which have a total electoral college vote of 290. Only 266 electoral votes are necessary for election.

The fifth report of the poll, made public today, shows Landon well out in front with 458,601 votes to Roosevelt's 382,324 and Lemke's 29,043. Landon has a 3-to-2 lead over Roosevelt and receives 57.95 per cent of the total vote.

First returns from Illinois and Michigan give Landon better than a 2-to-1 lead. Of eight other states reported for the first time in the poll, South Dakota, Idaho, Montana, Washington, Oregon and Arizona all go into the Republican column. Roosevelt leads in Missouri and Utah.

Fourteen of the twenty-one states listed in last week's tally show Landon gaining this week.

The Senator Says:

Smith, Reed, Ely Here for Landon

When The Senator comes in he is wearing an expression as sadly vacant as Fenway Park during the World Series.

"Senator," says Timmy, donating a gather-the-pieces he had just prepared for himself, "you look like you are all at sea today."

"Timmy," says The Senator, gratefully laving his lips in the libation, "I am at sea, figuratively, trying to figure out why Mayor Greenwood is at sea literally.

"Today is the day that Mayor Greenwood said he would tell his reasons for withdrawing from the contest against Governor Jim, but he is somewhere on the Atlantic cruising on his new yacht.

THE SENATOR

"This is his third day out because he departed immediately after popping out of the contest. His old yacht was the Isabella, but he is on his new yacht, and nobody seems to know where he and it are."

"Senator," says Timmy, "maybe he is thinking up his reasons. Does Tom O'Brien have a yacht?"

"Timmy, says The Senator, "I am afraid Tom is doing all his riding in a buggy."

There occurs at this point a slight lapse in the brilliant dialogue during which Timmy completes with three dashes of bitters, his own glue-me-together, samples the suave and disconsolately eyes the indecisive flutterings of an autumnal bitten fly that is looking for a landing place where it may give up the ghost.

"Senator," says Timmy, "the flies are dying like flies, and they always die on the perpendicular like on the wall or the mirror or the back of a chair. It is a mystery that worries me."

"A profound and solemn problem, Timmy," says The Senator. "While you are trying to figure out why the house fly never explores on the horizontal, I will concern myself with the big flies that are now causing the donkey great switchings of the tail in Massachusetts.

"I refer, Timmy, to the Jeffersonian Democrats which, brought into this world by the Patriarch, Jim Reed, at Detroit in early August, are beginning to bore in loud fashion hereabouts.

"Francis Xavier Hurley, former Democratic state auditor and Joe Ely's right hand man, is at the New England controls, having resigned his $7,000-a-year tax appeal board Democratic job that was good until 1940.

"His headquarters at 72 Franklin street have been open only two days but the progress of enrolling dissatisfied Democrats in the Landon cause bodes ill for Mr. Roosevelt hereabouts.

Sensation Seen

"The executive committee will be announced in a week and the names of those who have deserted the administration will cause a sensation.

"Rhode Island and Connecticut are also flocking to the anti-raw deal banner under which a real Democrat will remain a Democrat though voting Republican in this national issue.

"Supposedly the Jeffersonians will enforce a hands off policy on state political contests, but their activities are bound to have a reactionary effect on some state contests and particularly in Massachusetts.

"I mean that when ex-Senator Jim Reed comes to Boston to speak under auspices of the Jeffersonians, as he is coming, what he has to say regarding his desertion of the President will carry much weight in the local fights where candidates are linked with the administration.

"A lot of people still voting feel very kindly toward Jim Reed and his opinions because of his loyal defense of the late Joe Pelletier. This includes many of Councillor Ernie Brun-Scudder's close supporters and friends of Dan Gallagher who, by the way, has enrolled under the Jeffersonian banner.

Notables Due

"Although It was generally believed Joe Ely would do all his Landon campaigning in foreign fields, he will actually make several Massachusetts speeches for the Jeffersonians.

"Judge Cohalan is also coming, and Frank Hurley is busy now lining up Al Smith, Jim Reed and Joe Ely for appearance and speech on the same platform at a big Boston rally under Jeffersonian auspices the latter part of this month.

"Ely and Hurley, by the way, were the only big-wigs attending the Detroit Jeffersonian organization meeting who did not support Roosevelt before the 1932 national convention."

Timmy does not pay very much attention to this but is gazing the indecisive fly which has just missed ground looping the air drain and appears heading for a forced landing on the perpendicular of the mirror.

"Timmy" says The Senator, "Mayor Freddie is very mad on Mayor Greenwood on account of the withdrawal. Tom Dorgan has got out his old harpoon and will be an early candidate for mayor.

"Francis W. Kelly, who smashed the Democratic pre-primary slate by ripping the nomination fr Lieutenant-governor, has a mad on Joe McGrath because all he got for his campaign from the state committee chairman was $300 and a list of potential contributors, who refused to contribute.

"I think to me like the Democratic state committee is conceding the election of a Republican lieutenant-governor by the name of Saltonstall" and is conserving its finances for expenditure in the spots that may return something."

It is just at this point that the doorbell for making the final decision of its life, turns from its own image in the perpendicular mirror and makes a dead stick landing on that generous portion of The Senator's tummy which protrudes above the bar.

"Senator," says Timmy, awestruck, "is the fly dead?"

"The fly, Timmy," says The Senator, plucking the same delicately from his bay window, "has expired."

"Senator," says Timmy, "that is the only one I ever see pass out on the horizontal."

Baby Fretful?
Avoid Constipation

Remember your baby is helpless, unable to point out that constipation is making its life miserable. You must be able to recognize the symptoms.

Convulsions, night terrors, grinding the teeth in sleep, feverishness, restlessness—all indicate that poisons from baby's stagnant intestine are flooding the little body.

Constipation is dangerous for anybody. Nujol is safe for everybody. It does not affect the stomach, and is not absorbed by the body. Medical authorities approve Nujol because it is so safe, so gentle and so natural in its action.

Nujol makes up for a deficiency of natural lubricant in the intestines. It softens the waste matter and thus permits thorough and regular bowel movements without griping.

Just try Nujol regularly for the next month and see if your baby doesn't feel better than you ever suspected he could.

Ask your druggist for Nujol and insist on the genuine.

Inside Stuff You Can Bet On:

Largest contribution to the international contest thus far was one for $20,000 by a visiting mom... May McKim, the Boston girl who started with Eddie Elkins' band at the Brunswick, went there to the Theatrical Club, scored outstandingly at the Rainbow Room this summer, eloped Monday with Kurt Pannell, a singer. She began a week's engagement at the Metropolitan today.

True Story About a Hambo:

Capsule Size-ups and Interviews:

Dick Merrill doesn't like to talk about the flight with Harry Richman. The loudmouth, that with a million hours in the air, Merrill was upset when Richman took over the controls. He bet that Harry should have played the part of passenger. But they lost no time in finding out. "Harry is a grand person, Dick said. We are friends and always will be. The flier has magnetism as a man. He dislikes this play-acting in personal appearances, and is eager to get back to steady flying. But he'll fly solo in the international New York-to-Paris race next year, in one of the three planes being built for Americans. . . Al Donahue doesn't like to talk about his wife, who was Frederica Gallatin, daughter of Albert Gallatin, famous Secretary of the Treasury. Al was born in Dorchester. He makes oodles of money in music. He has 19 bands working as "Al Donahue bands" at this time. His wife has millions. "She's interested in my work, and thank the Lord, I'm doing all right." They have a baby boy, 2 years old. Al had a date last night with his mother, and in his spacious suite, he lamented the fact that he couldn't go home with his parents because the grind of rehearsing demanded his presence near the theater.

Hollywood Saga On Screen Soon

By LOLLELLA O. PARSONS
Motion Picture [illegible] Service

Los Angeles, Oct. 2—The Hollywood saga planned so long ago by David Selznick is being rapidly set for production. Fredric March, who it was rumored might play Rhett Butler in "Gone With the Wind" which he was seen on the Selznick lot, is really set for the star role in "A Star Is Born." [illegible] this title is new to you, it was originally called "It Happened In Hollywood" and it's a William Wellman story planned in Technicolor.

New Moist Rouge, Lipstick Give Natural Flattering Glow to Face

By ARLINE GOULD

IF THE FIRST autumn days bring you a bout of melancholy, buy yourself a new lipstick and you'll find there's a lift in your heart and a grand adventure - around - the - corner feeling.

There's a new moist rouge and lipstick, created by a famous house of cosmeticians, which certainly make a combination to write to grandmother about.

[illegible] for the [illegible] is applied by applying with [illegible] of the finger. It has also the advantage of a [illegible] gives a more natural effect. [illegible]

It does not have the deep [illegible] cream, rouge gives it a [illegible] be told from day [illegible] pleased.

If you are one to watch the [illegible] the new stay-on lipstick made from an [illegible] which, according to the lips than the average stick and gives a moist appearance which so many women desire.

The stick moves in and out of [illegible] and [illegible] bar or ring device which is among [illegible] and powders. The [illegible] shades [illegible] match or blend with the shades of [illegible].

Both the rouge and lipstick are [illegible] containers.

Beware of [illegible] you know perfectly [illegible] using lines on the face [illegible] caused by [illegible] a long [illegible] [illegible] you will [illegible] with [illegible] furrowed brow and want to [illegible] your powerful [illegible] look to your feet.

A new brush, designed especially for giving the feet an exhilarating massage has made its appearance. If you want [illegible] pedic specialists have been recommending for years it does wonders for softening and eventually removing corns and callouses and helps make walking that best of all, beauty exercises a pleasure.

When tired feet are [illegible] pleasant [illegible] days when [illegible] at least as much the same [illegible] stepping [illegible] with a fast [illegible] and [illegible] to [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

FLOYD GIBBONS' PAGE OF THRILLS AND MYSTERY

Frenzy and the Beast

Edgar Allan Poe's Grim and Eerie Tales

By FLOYD GIBBONS

Floyd Gibbons will pay good money for good TRUE adventure stories. Hundreds of people in Boston and nearby towns have received ten-dollar and hundred-dollar bills for their yarns. If there's no reason why you can't do the same, for, as Floyd Gibbons says, "Everybody has had at least one adventure." Fred A. Carlson of 20 Deaconess road, Boston, won one hundred and ten dollars for the story of his life's biggest moment, and you can do the same. For further details, see the box at the right side of this page.

There's a Reason Why Men Buy Howard Clothes Again and Again!

No other influence is more important in the constantly increasing popularity which Howard enjoys, than the friendship and good will of its patrons. Men who buy Howard Clothes know they can rely on them. They like their smart styles... the fine all wool fabrics... the splendid tailoring... the Howard service... Naturally there is a real satisfaction in buying Howard Clothes, which in every detail of style, tailoring construction, fit, and finish is indicative of luxurious attire.

But there is even a greater measure of satisfaction that comes from wearing a Howard garment over a long period of time... and discovering, as you will, that your judgment is confirmed, and your confidence in Howard Clothes is established... With these facts in mind, you will understand why more than [illegible] million men buy Howard Clothes again and again. Howard Clothes deserve your consideration.

TOUCHDOWN WONDERLAND BEST

Game Loser Choice In Feature Race

By SAM COHEN
BEST BET—TOUCHDOWN

After proving a great disappointment during the opening meeting, Touchdown appears to have hit his stride in schoolings and is easily the class of the ninth race and the best bet on tonight's card at Wonderland Park.

The eighth race feature looks like a very close affair with Game Loser, recent importation from Springfield, holding a slight edge over Easter John.

Jungle Show Aids Basket Charity

A sensational tiger act, breath-taking in its daring and courage, promises new thrills to Boston and mail lovers when Proske, famous Austrian trainer, comes to hand-to-hand grips with a cageful of man-eating Bengals, as a feature of the Frank Buck Jungle Show at Boston Garden next Monday afternoon.

Proske's act is brand new. His many fierce tigers are only in the process of being broken in. The stunts have never before been tried out in public. And danger lurks behind every move. One false step means his destruction.

Proske's body is already battle torn and clawed by his wild beasts. He is covered with claw marks from head to foot.

A huge feeding table is set up in the middle of Proske's cage. He forces the animals to sit on chairs their paws on the table. He tosses them raw meat and then dives into the midst and snatches it away, one of the most dangerous stunts of the wild animal arena.

Later he tangles, with them, their huge paws entwining his body, their cruel claws scratching at him.

This the ex-G-Man-He has yet to have it work before an audience. He is frankly fearful of the presence of other animals, close at hand and the b- effect on his own tigers.

Proske tigers comprise just one feature of a great daily show.

Old Rivals Clash In Taunton 8th

By MATTHEW KEANEY

Stellar gallopers of the summer season, Major Jamestown, Gleeful, Shy Major, Pilgrim and Triumph—spring from the starting box at the Taunton dog track tonight in the featured eighth event, keen to settle their old rivalry of speed.

Matched against these five stars will be Smashing Porthos, the Stephenson flier that showed remarkable speed in recent schoolings, Kashmir Sentinel and Jersey Jim. The Kashmir Sentinel entry has shown plenty of power over high class fields, and is rated high tonight.

FIRST RACE—FUTURITY
MISS T. E., BORDEN, TIGER DONNA
FIRST HALF DAILY DOUBLE
PP Dogs Wts. Fcst. Odds
1 Michigan Lad 49 6-1
3 Midnight Call 45 12-1

7 Montana Tourist 48½ 3-1
1 Borborn 45 8-1
7 Borden 47 4-1
8 Miss T. E. 44 2-1
MISS T. E. has shown plenty of stuff in schooling, few starters will show an improvement. BORDEN seems to have all the necessary to be close up. TIGER DONNA rates no less than show.

SECOND RACE—FUTURITY
PLANTER, INDIAN TOLEDO, SILVER LENE
2 Indian Toledo 53 3-1
4 Chance Flight 52 8-1
6 Fordel 49 6-1

7 Spare 48 10-1
1 Lynette 50 12-1
3 Planter 53 2-1
1 Jo Bal Jo 48½ 3-1
PLANTER, with plenty of early foot, rates highest in the 6 to 5 on this one. INDIAN TOLEDO and SILVER LENE should be next before him. SILVER LENE is good enough to win.

THIRD RACE—5-16 MILE
COLUMBIA RIVER, DELOISE,

Warneke Hurls For Cubs Today

Chicago, Oct. 2 (AP)—The scrappy White Sox pointed for their second victory over the Chicago Cubs at Comiskey Park today in the resumption of the 1936 city championship series.

Elected by their 6 to 2 win in the opener at Wrigley field behind Vern Kennedy's four-hit pitching, the Sox predicted they would end the best four out of seven affair on their home lot with victories today, Saturday and Sunday.

The Cubs relied on Lon Warneke's arm to even matters today and were not disheartened by the initial defeat. Kennedy won 21 games during the regular season and the Cubs expected him to be good. The Sox chose Monty Stratton, for mou d duty today.

Cold, damp weather held yesterday's crowd to slightly more than 12,000. Rip Radcliff's fifth inning homer with two aboard after two Sox runs already had scored in th frame featur-d the rustle.

Am I Glad Department

Holm, Sweet Holm for Mr. Brundage

By DAVE EGAN

Avery Brundage has committed his last official blunder, and will be drummed out of the A. A. U. and its fraternal Olympic body at its next meeting.

Dave Egan

This, my compatriots, comes under the head of right good news to those of us who like the young folks and have some ideals of fair dealing and fair play still rattling around in our noggins.

The ideals of the A. A. U. glow with lofty character. The purpose is the purpose of the Greeks of old, to produce a race of young guys which will have a healthy mind in a healthy body, but the A. A. U. has fallen into the hands of persons who are hungry for headlines, often at the expense of the young athletes who are nominally in their charge.

The A. A. U., in late years, has become a self-perpetuating political organization, designed to coil the last stray quarter out of the pockets of well-meaning citizens.

I find that George V. Brown, the outstanding member of the A. A. U. in New England, is interested in the doings of Brundage and will lead the fight to give him a quiet and permanent place in the rear of the hall. Maybe they'll even punish him by by making him travel second class with the athletes in years to come.

Judge Jeremiah Mahoney of Brooklyn will be the next president of the A. A. U. He is a retired judge of the Supreme Court of New York, who fought to keep the United States out of the Olympic games because he knew that Hitler would make it a tool for Nazi propaganda, and he will fight just as strenuously to give Brundage the heaveho.

George V. Brown is not a man of many words. He is the type of man who can keep long silences, and do some heavy thinking. He paid his own way to the Olympic games, and suffered in his soul when Eleanor Holm Jarrett was dragged below the belt in the most exhibition of pink bad manners this country has ever seen.

Till my George V. Brown take the foolrum from here in, and I know he'll give it a good handride.

"I've known that girl since she was 16 years old. I'd say she's 21 now. A fine looking girl, and every inch an athlete. Any harm in her? Definitely not. She was used to night clubs, and she was used to traveling in first class accommodations with older company. She didn't do anything that was wrong."

"Mrs. Jarrett told those people that she'd win the back stroke for the United States with a bottle of champagne in each hand, and I guess she'd have done it, at that. Of course, Brundage is to blame, but Gustave Kirby is equally to blame. Kirby has a knack of doing the wrong thing, and he and Brundage are pretty close."

It seems too bad that the A. A. U. has to share the shame of the Jarrett episode with Brundage and Kirby. The principles of the A. A. U. are sound, and the older I get, the surer I am of that."

The convention is scheduled to be held in Houston, Texas, but Brundage is trying desperately to have it switched to Chicago, which is his own back-yard. Brundage likes to roll the dice on his own table, but if the convention is held in his own bailiwick, he'll still run second. Authority is too rich for his blood.

* * *

Sirs and ladies, I'm squelched: "So you don't know what's happening Friday night. Well, I'll tell you what's happening. The Boston and Maine Bowling League opens. That's what's happening. John B. Goudrich."

COLLINS Headed for CUBS

CARD.-CHI. DEAL ON FIRE

New York, Oct. 2 (AP) —Prof. Hans Lobert, coach of the Phillies, presides at the concerts of the barber shop quartet in World Series headquarters (after work hours, of course).

One of his most enthusiastic choristers is Sam Breadon, president of the Cardinals, who can turn in a mean tenor ... Don't be surprised if Rip Collins, Cards first sacker, hobs up in a Cub uniform next season . . . A deal of some sort is cooking.

What is Connell going to do with Yale tomorrow, or vice versa?

Francis Wallace's new football serial, "The Double Ride," hit the magazines this week . . . Pal Moore of the Yankees and Mark Koenig of the Giants are the only New Yorkers who have been in World Series as both American and National Leaguers.

Note to Army opponents: The Cadets already have cracked four seasons' forms . . . Dean Dellinger, the new wrestling champ, has some stature, carries a mean punch . . . A lot of smart guys are rushing to put their dough on Ohio State. This bunch might win the Yankees in six games.

Grid Laugh

Some of these football coaches are good for a laugh any time . . . Here is Jimmy Crowley of Fordham, with only four veterans in the East, holding Franklin and Marshall in their regard . . . Maybe he means the 8-1 third team.

Harry Kipke, upon set of the New Orleans outfit, here for the series, reports Harry Gilmer, the time hopper the publicity man for Huey Long's Louisiana State gridders, now a sophomore, is not quite as strong in the air as was the case on Wednesday evening, Oklahoma 41 quarterbacks having gotten from Maine prepared to back the Bruins to turn the tables. Gilmer's passing figures mean two-run Gordon Hedgewood should stay the home route.

The starters in the 18 par pace follow: Gilded Braden, Gail Grattan, Viking, Noon, Bedford Grattan, Happy, Noontime.

Gail Grattan, Gilded Braden and Noon are the selections.

Ernie Nevers' point-a-minute eight answering the starter's roll to assignee Notice Fly Pat, Dillon, Bingo Dalton, Dizzy Dillon, Calmet Kiam, Bob Chinese Dillon and Abbe.

Out of the Giants' last touted 1,000 in his two World Series starts . . . If either Hal Schumacher or Freddie Fitzsimmons fans against the Yanks, Bill Terry will name Frank (Gabby) Gabler as a Giant starting pitcher.

Billy Direct Receives Horsemen's Praise

By ED COGSWELL

Rochester, N. H. Oct. 2—A rainy day gives the horsemen the opportunity of devoting the time to chatting and swapping horse experiences.

This was the routine here Thursday. Plenty of opportunity, too, for this city is overcrowded with visitors.

One engaging topic under discussion was the racing ability of the late-retired colt Billy Direct owned by Nathan B. Smith of Lowell, Mass.

Winning his race against mature performers with extreme ease and in fact time was not only commendation, but in most fundamentals unsurpassed that is the opinion of men of wide horse and turf experience to gather in numbers at an auction.

Quite an afternoon event, particularly when it is realized he was handicapped with about 20 pounds weight in order to drive with Ben Shaw, the wifty, humorous and hoary.

Three classes, divided into nineteens, are scheduled for the afternoon. In the 2:15 pace the entries are H. H. Hay Overton, His Eminence, Sunrise, Golden Hedgewood, Signal Isle, Jeanne Trixa, The Quiet Knight and Billy Direct.

Not quite so strong in all as was the case on Wednesday evening, but strong enough to bring a delegation from Maine prepared to back the Bruins to turn the tables. Gilmer's passing figures mean two-run Gordon Hedgewood should stay the home route.

300 Park League Teams in Action

Every gridiron in the Boston Park Department playground system, a total of nine in 70, will be kept busy the next two days as more than 300 teams go into their second week of play in quest of the various city titles.

The midget leagues swing into action tomorrow morning on 65 playgrounds. The older leagues, of course, will be topped by the major Park League matches, but the Charlestown League games will attract their thousands of local followers.

The entire staff of Park Department officials, numbering about 75, will be busy handling the games and yesterday went through a stiff drill in rules and procedure under the guidance of Jack Mahoney, former Georgetown coach, at Fenn Stadium.

It is estimated by Park Department officials that a total of more than 10,000 spectators will witness last week's games and more are expected to attend tomorrow and Sunday.

SMITH In Rare Radio FORM

AL, PRESIDENT IN LIMELIGHT

My listening last night was concentrated and intent upon Al Smith, President Roosevelt and Al Jolson. It seemed to me that the first Al was certainly in his most rare satirical form.

The President was injecting a very noticeable expression of angry tone into his talk, which by the way we are given to understand will characterize his campaign tirades by radio from now on. Then came the Jolson man and he was his old "Mammy" self again for the first time in many microphone moons.

Lots of loud speaker laughs and above par diversion filled the air last evening. I thought, par-ticularly so in such a gooey weather condition that has set in out of doors. So tonight's hour on the "Hollywood Hotel" hour is looking along the most promising pro-gram of the week (WEEI) and due at 9 o'clock as usual, Jane Withers, the wise young ter-rorette, is scheduled to take part in some studio drama based upon her new picture called "Can This Be Dixie?" which includes comedy co-starring by Slim Summerville.

Rogers Jewelry Branch Opened

Thousands of Cambridge shoppers were attracted to the new Rogers Jewelry store opening yesterday at 361 Massachusetts ave-nue, Cambridge.

The store is the ninth one opened during the past year by company officials.

A feature of the Cambridge branch is an online unit devoted to the retinal department, where the newest and most modern equip-ment has been installed for eye ex-aminations and the fitting of glasses.

Other sections of the store are devoted to household utensils, electrical appliances, leather goods, giftwares and other items.

In opening the new Central square branch, Rogers executives say, "Thank you, New England, for the rapid growth of the com-pany."

Farmer, 70, Fights Off Enraged Bull

Great Barrington, Oct. 2 (AP)— Michael Daley, 70-year-old Sheffield farmer, suffered a broken leg, broken ribs and multiple cuts and bruises today in a battle with a 2,000-pound bull.

Knocked down by the animal, Daley twisted the ring in the bull's nose, grabbed a pitchfork and then, holding the implement at the bull's throat, crawled through a gate to safety.

The Roosevelt New Deal Tax Vulture

THE COLLAPSE of the Roosevelt New Deal is being written in the terms of the BURDENS IT HAS IMPOSED UPON THE PEOPLE and the LIBERTIES IT HAS TAKEN FROM THEM.

It has been discredited by its WILFUL FAILURE to keep MOST of its promises, and its INABILITY to keep the REST OF THEM.

The summary of all its endeavors is impressed on the American people by these words:

IT HAS MADE TAXATION A HEAVY FACTOR IN THE COST OF LIVING!

Ruinous taxation has flowed from every unsound economic and wasteful political spigot twirled by the New Deal in its mad pretensions to promotion of recovery.

The New Deal has INCREASED THE COST OF LIVING, without giving the nation any of the normal benefits of higher prices.

It has not been able to increase employment, or to expand markets.

Its unjust penalties UPON CONSUMERS have been accompanied by unnatural distress for producers, doles for workers and foreign competition for farmers.

UNDER wasteful and inefficient government of the New Deal type, taxes become the DRY ROT in prevailing price levels.

High prices in themselves are not productive of hardship or distress for the masses of the people.

The price of a product should represent the full value of the material in it, of the skill of its maker and the wages of all the workmen who have contributed to its progress from origin to consumer.

It has to be high enough to support these values.

But when high prices are made up IN LARGE PART OF TAX ELEMENTS that return nothing to the consumer and that never reach the producer or the worker, they are unjust burdens upon the people.

They are not high prices at all, BUT LOW PRICES PLUS RUINOUS TAXES.

As long as the consumer's money pays wages, keeps factories going, puts life into transportation, buys materials from farmers and producers and pays earned profits to employers, all the elements of value are in his purchase.

But when the support of parasitic political machines and the cost of extravagant government ARE INCLUDED IN THE PRICE, the nation is feeding on its own flesh.

THESE are the kind of high prices that have prevailed under the New Deal. The TAX VULTURE will continue to sit at the table of every wage earner as long as the people tolerate a government committed to the service of POLITICAL MASTERS rather than NATIONAL INTEREST.

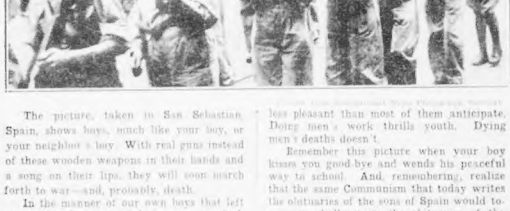
The nation cannot prosper under this kind of a government, AND IT HAS NOT PROSPERED. America has discovered it cannot tax itself out of the New Deal marshes, AND THE NEW DEAL WILL NOT SURVIVE THAT DISCOVERY.

A Great Hero Passes On

THE death of Admiral William S. Sims, commander of American naval forces in the World War, has unloosed a flood of memories of a man whose brilliant career has given the naval service much of its color over a period of many years.

Among the proudest traditions of the Navy itself will be the memory of this vigorous, fighting patriot who lived to be recognized as one of the greatest naval leaders in modern maritime history.

Boys Today, Cannon Fodder Tomorrow



The picture, taken in San Sebastian, Spain, shows boys, much like your boy, or your neighbor's boy. With real guns instead of these wooden weapons in their hands and a song on their lips, they will soon march forth to war—and, probably, death.

In the manner of our own boys that left us two decades ago to fight in a war in which America had no concern, these young recruits are shouting:

"We don't know much about war. But, you bet, we'll soon find out!"

They will, though the finding out will be less pleasant than most of them anticipate. Doing men's work thrills youth. Dying men's deaths doesn't.

Remember this picture when your boy kisses you good-bye and wends his peaceful way to school. And, remembering, realize that the same Communism that today writes the obituaries of the sons of Spain would tomorrow gladly write the obituaries of the sons of America.

Communism is YOUR enemy, YOUR country's enemy, YOUR son's enemy. Fear it, oppose it, and, if necessary, fight it as the enemy it is.

Listen, World!

By Elsie Robinson

Elsie Robinson

Every morning, near sun-up, a friend prays for me. Has for years. It's cold at that hour now, with a silver-gray light that smells of snow-earth. The tough, golden grass is silvered with clinging crystals, the bright sword of Venus is limpid horn and the world is still. The stars, like dots and dashes of Morse code, are fading and disappearing each morning in the heather and vast, sea-like expanse of high peak dwellers enjoy winging down after the crops of acorns and food-oil seeds. Birds know and follow the various stops as well as humans.

My hands are cold as I bend to light the fire in my cabin, where the sweet fragrance of last night's log lingers on the hearth. I don't mind working over the range, frying flapjacks and sausage, with a line of men hungry and yarning at the table before me. I'm worrying about what I shall write. Someone phones and I read back, perhaps, to a big platter of fried onions and potatoes, but my thoughts are elsewhere. I feel, as always, that I'm failing.

These are bad days. Going around ranches, automobile camps, city slums, I can see how bad they are. See much anger, bewilderment and pain! If only I knew the right words to say—had more wisdom, love and strength within myself—

Then it comes to me—always with a fresh, heartening rush—the realization that my friend is praying for me . . . praying that I may have these very things I need. Strange—we're so far apart in many ways. While I'm pounding a typewriter or building a camp fire, hew kneeling before a cathedral altar. Candles waver in a vast dimness . . . a bell tinkles . . . voices rise and fall in a murmuring tide.

PRAYER DEFIES SPACE

And perhaps you're thinking that my prayer could hedge such a difference as that. But you're wrong! His prayer does get over. Believe or not, as you will, that God hears and answers—this much I know. The godliness in low-life decency and pride that make me something better than a brute—hear and answer. Just knowing that he trusts me to live up to that godliness helps.

Over all the other morning voices and the inner voices of my own inner fear and discouragement—I hear that call . . . and answer.

We blunder stupidly, we humans, when we dismiss prayer as a sort of pious roundup—like part of some religious ritual. Prayer's as vital and universal a part of our common life as breathing. Every man-made object, every man-made program is "prayer" . . . some man reaching out of his dream or desire, trying to make a crude copy of his hidden thought. Everything we have or do is "an act of faith."

Not always a very admirable "act of faith," by faith works both ways, for evil as well as good. Often an ugly and cruel "wish fulfillment." Yet—despite all our messes—prayer has been the biggest element in human life. We're in the race to today without that endless stream of wishing for something better, however that jungle life? Still mangling each other in caves.

Yes—I know—there's plenty of mangling going on, even though we've left the caves. But the ocean behind it is no longer undifferentiated beastliness. There's a better pattern forming . . . a truer conception of brotherhood, AN UNIVERSAL CRY.

Somewhere a prayer going up for me each morning, strengthening and steadying me. And, as surely, somewhere a prayer for you, too. Not necessarily a priest's prayer, or some loved one's. But the prayers of millions whom I shall never meet in person . . . millions as driven and discouraged as you are yourself, who are nevertheless reaching to hold on to the common faith, expecting you to hold on with them.

Somewhere a prayer going up for freedom and fair play, kindness and courage, beauty and happiness for all, not just the privileged few. Somewhere a prayer reaching out toward you . . . counting on you to help find the answer.

Doesn't the thought of that yank your licked spirit on to its feet . . . set you to fighting again?

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

O. O. McIntyre

New York, Oct. 2—Thoughts while strolling: Wonder what Clark Gable thinks of Robert Taylor. Wood fires and burning leaves. And the smell of them. What mellow fruit and dreams they bark from the past. And to stand by a clear stream and see the Sycamore leaves pirouette slowly down!

What's become of Alexander Woollcott? Who remembers when ladies used to dye their hair with walnut stain? Most people insist spring is the season. Spring the great awakener. Enkindler of cheer. But give me the dreamy fall and its sad moods of frustration. Frost. Gray days.

Spring means life and hope. Renewal. Birds and flowers. And the very word "fall" has ominous sounds. Synonymous with defeat. Maybe we fall boys are those with some hidden quirk—a bent for gloating over the decline and decay of things about us. A taste for somber attenuations.

Memory: That old play, "With the Law," and a letter of endorsement from T. R. paneled in the lobby. Those dummy ladies in the shop windows resembling the stars of the moment in Hollywood. Can't get away somehow from those drab musings of fall. The hickory rocker that stands on the porch all year.

A Fall Guy for Fall. November days in Ohio. Woods adrip in the bright morning sun after a night of light frost. Boys scattering walnuts on the old woodshed roofs. Ding-dong of school bells. Scampering red squirrels. The honk of wild ducks winging away.

And there was the town souse who lived in a shanty and died with the horrors, and his towering rhyme: "The melancholy days have come, the saddest of the year. It's a little too warm for whiskey, boys, and a little too cool for beer."

Washington Irving was a great one for the wood fire and its comforting warmth. When translating his always sent a courier ahead to arrange for a room with open hearth. Clare Donglas, the cartoonist, is a wood fire zealot. His whole camp in Hollywood and upstate are built around his grate. He is responsive to anything that glows.

And one of the joys of the sheet warmers. The guests find their beds have been coaxed up with warming pans when they retire. Dreier, too, thinks best rocking in the glow of flickering logs.

One of my treasured memories is of a fall evening in Paris. On a terrace somewhere between the Madeleine and the Concorde Weber's I imagine. The genteel summer crowd had vanished. My wife and I were sole patrons, save two gloomy Frenchmen with spade beards, dressed all in black, who sat at a nearby table over steaming rhums chaud. Twirle had fled.

In the middle of broad rue Royale a jetu with shabby patent leather evening hat perched on the box of his red-wheeled fiacre, for all the world like a mouldy sparrow, an icy, penetrating and chilly gust kindled a little pile of maple leaves into scarlet. Pin points of electric fires dotted the boulevards. It was great!

There was a bleak loveliness in the roads and fields guiding Gallipolis to the fall. Birches stripped of foliage stood gaunt yet entrancingly silvery in the moonlight. The boys in front of the smoke shop moved their alleywalk chairs inside. Mr. Henry House brought in his thermometer readings from his home on the bluff overlooking the river daily.

All the live stock shorn of gloss and dull in the first sprout of winter coat. Lamps flickering their tessellations through shuttered windows at 5 p. m. The hammering of stakes in back yards. Everything hemmed in patiently waiting the eternal rhythm of change.

'Dear Govt.'

-:- -:- -:-

By Winston Norman

Guy Alf Landon
Topeka,
Kan.
Dear Guynor Landon:

This letter is being wrote by me and some more Democrats. We want to say that we dont like the trick you don to President Roosevelt.

The trick we mean, Guy Landon, you make him take up Politics. You says he better tell the Voters what he really stood for. So poor Mr. Roosevelt had got to ride on trains & talk Politics till Nov. 3rd and the worst thing about it, the Democrat Party is gettin stuck for his expenses.

We got the Bad News today, one of our WPA Foremen passed the hat & says, "Alright men," he says, "everybody chip in 1 bits to help pay Roosevelt's r. r. faze."

We set him why the Govt don't pay it, an spoil, and he says, "Because the Govt only pays for Roosevelt when he is acting non-Political," he says, "such as when he makes Speaches about Drouts & Floods. He only gets a free ride on things like Big disasters."

That made us plenty sore, Guynor Landon. Payin out our own personal money for a campaign is Big Disaster for us Democrats, and if you hadent brung up the subjeck of Politics it wouldent never of happened.

& The President could of went right on, makeing nise campain talks & chargeing them up to the Taxpayers. There wouldent of been no Politics in that, because the New Deal takes money off the Tax-payers without no questions about which Party they belong to.

So shame on you Guynor Landon. You might be President yourself some day, and you will know how bad Mr. Roosevelt feals about having to talk Politics, especially when us poor Democrats has to pay for it.

If it hadent of been for you, the president could of went right on, takeing his r. r. faze out of the Treasury, and giveing us the cheapest Non-Political Campaign that Govt money could buy.

Your enemy,
A DEMOCRAT.

That's That

-:- By Bruce Gustin

One of the most important developments of the national campaign is George N. Peek's endorsement of the candidacy of Governor Landon for President. Peek has a large following among the farmers. He has fought their battle for years. They have confidence in his judgment. And with him in the Landon camp, a large number of farmers are certain to follow him.

"I was fooled by President Roosevelt on money," Peek said in his public announcement of the stand he has taken. "I believe Governor Landon is the kind of man who keeps his promises. That is his record. I tender him my support." Peek went on to say that President Roosevelt "has taken the American farmer out of foreign markets and has put the foreign farmer into the American markets." Any farmer who looks at the increased figures for imports of farm products can see this.

Senator McAdoo of California is at least is frank. Speaking in Los Angeles about the New Deal, he admitted that there has been waste in the New Deal Administration and boasted:

"We admit it. BUT WE ARE PROUD OF IT."

Taxpayers, present and future, who will pay for the waste of which Senator McAdoo is so proud, are not so proud of the squandering that has been going on.

Thus far, only 15 States have enacted unemployment insurance laws which have been approved by the Social Security Board in conformity with the New Deal Social Security Act. Pressure is being brought to bear on the other 33 to fall into line. They are being warned that before the Legislatures act next year the payroll taxes levied by the Federal government for that year against all business and industrial employers of eight or more persons, will be paid into a state loss most of this payroll tax money anyhow.

The Social Security Act requires that each State unemployment insurance law must provide that "all money received in the unemployment fund SHALL IMMEDIATELY BE PAID OVER TO THE SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY to the credit of the unemployment trust fund."

The New Dealers do not trust any State to take care of its own unemployment insurance fund. The fact that the Social Security Act is usually the custodian of all State funds makes no difference. What it comes down to is that public money, the New Dealers demand that they be permitted to do all the handing.

Now what is going to happen in the unemployment insurance tax money which the States turn over to the Secretary of the Treasury? What is he going to do with the unemployment trust fund? The Social Security Act says "It shall be DUTY OF THE SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY TO INVEST SUCH PORTION OF THE FUND AS IS NOT, IN HIS JUDGMENT, REQUIRED TO MEET CURRENT WITHDRAWALS." He must invest this money in securities of the United States. And here is a joker—he may issue special obligations and then invest the unemployment trust fund in them. In other words the Federal Government can spend for anything it pleases the unemployment insurance taxes collected by the state and give an I. O. U. to the state, and when that I. O. U. falls due, the taxpayers who already have paid once will have to pay again.

Considered strictly from a dollars and cents standpoint, both employers and employees save money if they do not have a State unemployment insurance system. Such a system must be financed by taxation. There must be a 3% tax on payrolls. There must be a corresponding tax on the gross income of the workers. Every tax on gross income is the same as a sales and salary collection.

Let Freedom Ring

An "Innocents Abroad" tale is the book, "Let Freedom Ring," by Hiram Phillips Hammond, retelling the adventures of a lot of cultured Louisianians who united to prevent the seizure of their State by Huey Long and his machine.

These women had a blind faith in American institutions as a safeguard against the invasion of their civil liberties. They believed what they had been taught in school. They were disillusioned. The Kingfish showed them that where anything important is at stake politics becomes a power equation, and not a resultant of abstract forms of right and justice.

It is a sad book, brought to us courtesy by Mrs. Hammond, other than a passionate indictment of individual courage and awareness. When Huey Long was beating the Administration, the government had men in Louisiana trying to make out a case of income tax evasion, while others explored the penalties of Federal action against his dictatorship over a sovereign State.

After his death, his political heirs made their peace with Washington. There has been no more tax probing. The Long crowd still owns and operates Louisiana.

REVIVES OLD DAYS

Mrs. Hammond is of the old New Orleans aristocracy, of remote French antecedents. Deftly, she revives the bland, charming, complacent, old civilization of New Orleans, before a disturber, with an entirely different heritage, came out of the red clay hills of Winn Parish. There may not be lavender and old lace in this retrospect, but it has charm and color! She writes:

"The debut night, however, was prologue to the glittering panorama of the year. While dirigegels carpeted the houses for private dances; the midwinter cotillions, fortified by suppers at the hour of midnight; the Carnival German, a breath-taking affair of favors and costly flowers; and then the climax of the season, Carnival—Mardi Gras with Rex waving his diamond sceptre to the populace, with maskers tossing beads and confetti into the outstretched hands of the pressing crowd, with glittering tromboning and the air with music."

And after the parade had passed and the last sparkling light had thrown showers of silver into the air—the ball, the music, the satin slippers of the debutantes twirling to the waltz tunes of this last night of revelry.

The advent of Huey Long and a new day, wholly disagreeable to Mrs. Hammond, is projected against this backdrop of a leisured, cultured day and time. Mrs. Hammond's father was greatly loved, her deeply so veneration for American institutions. He used to say to her:

"You cannot fool with Uncle Sam. Uncle Sam tolerates no foolishness."

But she has come to think, at times, Uncle Sam tolerates a great deal which he might well make his business.

Mrs. Hammond headed a state women's committee to fight Senator Long and his organization. Their battle came to a climax with the seating of Senator Overton. They briefed their case with evidence, transcripts and affidavits, which they confidently expected would sink the enemy without a trace, and was sent Mrs. Hammond to Washington.

WILL FIGHT ON

Her story of how she was gently and courteously sidetracked by one senate and imposing Senator after another is a curious chapter of American political history. There were plenty of Americans who hated the Kingfish like poison. There was none who dared tangle with him. Mrs. Hammond found in this encounter in Washington, extending over several years, a governmental zeal for safeguarding states' rights which has not been otherwise observable in recent years.

There was a noble regard for the Constitution and the reservations which it places upon Federal intrusion in home political units. The detailed story of how Huey Long gained and held power in Louisiana, and his successful defiance of State, Federal and political opposition has been elaborately told elsewhere. Mrs. Hammond condenses it in a compact and documented narrative. In effect she says:

"Some of us in New Orleans believed in America and in American institutions. We desperately sought aid from all believers in America and from our national government. We did not get it. We lost. What about it?"

But she is not inclined to fight on. She comes from fighting stock. To help finance her battle against Senator Long, she sold her most treasured family heirloom. She wept about begging, hat in hand, so to speak, from important business men and corporation heads who had felt the Long lash. She winced, but who turned pale at the very thought that their real sentiment might leak out.

Now she catches her breath and runs up a new banner with an old device, "I have just begun to fight."
